March Academy of Science Updates

Tuesday, March 2, 11:30 am PT

Dive Into Our Philippine Coral Reef

The Philippine Coral Reef is only a click away! Tomorrow morning head to Facebook and treat your eyes to a kaleidoscope of color as Academy divers drop into one of the deepest and largest displays of living coral in the world—aka our Philippine Coral Reef exhibit. At $4.99, this live event helps to support our museum and research as we work to protect Earth's coral reefs. Purchase your ticket today for a chance to ask questions, learn all about coral reefs, and meet a member of our scientific-diving.

Tickets are available for purchase on the Academy's Facebook page.

The Best Birthday Trips for Every Age

No matter what age you're celebrating, there's always a reason to pack your bags.

As I sat, strapped in my seat waiting during the countdown, one thought kept crossing my mind: every part of this rocket was supplied by the lowest bidder.

eyes. When we opened them, we had the Bible and they had the land.

- Desmond Tutu

America is the only country where a significant proportion of the population believes that professional wrestling is real but the moon landing was faked.

- David Letterman

Anyone interested in signing up to learn and play Pickleboard at MLK Park. It's an easy game to learn with minimal running but maximum eye/hand coordination, making it a suitable for many of our villagers.

It's a doubles game so if we can get three to sign-up, I'll bring along the equipment and get us started. Weekdays are best.

What a Fossilized Hand Says About the Last Common Ancestor Between Humans and Chimpanzees

More than 1 million years before the early hominin known as Lucy was striding across the Afar region of Ethiopia, the lesser-known Ardipithecus ramidus roamed approximately the same area. Now, a team of anthropologists have looked at the 4.4 million-year-old fossilized hand of one specimen (affectionately dubbed “Ardi”), and argue that the human ancestors’ roaming may have involved more swinging through the trees than previously thought.

Music & Morsels: Scenes from Childhood

Wed, March 3: 1-2pm (PT)

Take a front row seat at your computer to join pianist Ian Scarfe for a unique, live, classical piano program about memory & nostalgia, including a discussion on the incredible power of music and how composers from centuries ago harnessed that creativity. The recital includes Schumann's charming masterpiece, "Scenes from Childhood" and much more!
