On Saturday, June 12, Southern Marin Fire will conduct a voluntary emergency evacuation drill in the Sausalito South evacuation area, also known as Hurricane Gulch.

The evacuation drill will help first responders assess the issues that may arise if an evacuation becomes necessary due to a disaster such as a wildfire, earthquake, or tsunami.

The drill will begin at 10:15 a.m. on June 12 with an activation of the Alert Marin system, an opt-in reverse 9-1-1 dialing system that can be used to alert residents in the event of an emergency. Calls will automatically go to landline telephones in the evacuation area. To sign up to receive alerts via smartphone, text message, or email, please visit the website of Alert Marin.

When residents receive the alert, they will be asked to fetch their grab and go bags and evacuate to a drill command center located at Southview Park for a 15 minute presentation, 45 minutes of Q&A, and access to additional safety resources. Participants in the drill are encouraged to evacuate by foot or bike.

Last month's "super flower blood moon" lunar eclipse was hardly the only exciting celestial event of the season. Next week brings an even bigger spectacle — a rare "ring of fire" solar eclipse.

On June 10, skywatchers all over the world will be able to view the annular solar eclipse.

What is an annular solar eclipse?

A total solar eclipse occurs when the moon passes directly between the Earth and the sun, completely blocking the sun's light. During an annular solar eclipse, the moon does not completely cover the sun as it passes, leaving a glowing ring of sunlight visible.

Because the moon appears smaller under these circumstances, it cannot fully block out the sun, forming what's called a "ring of fire" or "ring of light."

Thursday morning, June 10, marks the new moon, which will eclipse the sun at 6:53 a.m. ET/3:53 am here in California. To see it, look to the east. Wear protective goggles!

If you miss it, you can just catch up with a livestream instead.

~ During WWII, U.S. airplanes were armed with belts of bullets which they would shoot during dogfights and on strafing runs. These belts were folded into the wing compartments that fed their machine guns. These belts measure 27 feet and contained hundreds of rounds of bullets. Often times, the pilots would return from their missions having expended all of their bullets on various targets. They would say, I gave them the whole nine yards, meaning they used up all of their ammunition.

You May Live a Lot Longer

Phil Mickelson just won the P.G.A. Championship at age 50. Tom Brady won the Super Bowl at 43. Serena Williams is a top tennis star at 39. Joe Biden entered the presidency at 78. Last year Bob Dylan released an excellent album at 79.

Clearly, we're all learning to adjust our conception of age. People are living longer, staying healthier longer and accomplishing things late in life that once seemed possible only at younger ages. And it's not just superstars. The fraction of over-85s in the U.S. classified as disabled dropped by a third between 1982 and 2005, while the share who were institutionalized fell nearly in half.
