UC Berkeley's Summer Reading List

This year's theme is Connection(s). Every day we're reminded of our connections to others, whether something as wonderful as our links to friends and loved ones or as concerning as this year's COVID-19 pandemic. While you're in college, you're likely to make rich and deep connections — with other people, with your studies, and with the intersection of ideas across disciplines, history, and parts of your own life. We look forward to connecting with you when you get to Berkeley. In the meantime, we hope you'll enjoy some of the fantastic readings offered here that suggest just a few of the many ways in which connections manifest themselves in the world.

2. The way it smells after the rain is called petrichor.
3. The plastic or metallic coating at the end of your shoelaces is called an aglet.
4. The rumbling of stomach is actually called a wamble.
5. The cry of a new born baby is called a vagitus.
6. The prongs on a fork are called tines.
7. The sheen or light that you see when you close your eyes and press your hands on them is called phosphenes.
8. The tiny plastic table placed in the middle of a pizza box is called a box tent.
9. The day after tomorrow is called overmorrow.
10. Your tiny toe or finger is called minimus.
11. The wired cage that holds the cork in a bottle of champagne is called an agraffe.
12. The 'na na na' and 'la la la', which don't really have any meaning in the lyrics of any song, are called vocables.
13. When you combine an exclamation mark with a question mark (like this ?!), it is referred to as an interrobang.

6 Cities With Unique Public Transportation

We always look for the most efficient and affordable method of public transportation in our home city. For some however, cars and buses may not an option. Whether it's due to landscape, socioeconomic, or historical factors, some cities get creative with their transportation. Can you imagine taking a riverboat to work? What about a cable car or a coconut-shaped taxi? Which of these unique transportation methods would you try?

Can You Get the Virus From a Surface?

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recently tried to clarify its guidance on the subject: “It may be possible that a person can get Covid-19 by touching a surface or object that has the virus on it and then touching their own mouth, nose, or possibly their eyes, but this isn’t thought to be the main way the virus spreads.”
