Dear Pepper: Social Distancing and a Brotherly Snub

Dear Pepper,

I've relaxed my strictness about pandemic protocol to the point where I'm comfortable having socially distant visits outdoors with small numbers of friends. After months of isolation and worry, I feel that it should be time for me to start catching up with people. The problem is that I have zero motivation to see anyone.

The Face of Bill Murray Adds Some Joy to Classic Paintings

Bill Murray isn't one of those actors who disappears into a role.

Nor is he much of a chameleon on canvas, however iconic, as artist Eddy Torigoe demonstrates with a series that grafts Murray's famous mug onto a number of equally well-known paintings.

Think the Founding Fathers Were a Bunch of Old Men? Think Again

"Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness ..." — perhaps the most recognized phrase from the Declaration of Independence — was written in 1776 by Thomas Jefferson, a man with not only distinguished, mature wisdom but with curled, white hair characteristic of America's Founding Fathers. But don't let those two traits fool you — Jefferson was far from the old man most of us might imagine him to have been when he wrote and signed the Declaration of Independence.

The Most Expensive Cities in the U.S

We can all agree that life is expensive. Especially when your passion is travel. But in some cities, the cost of living is so astronomical it makes it impossible for the Average Joe to stop through without some seriously conscious and budget-savvy behaviors. Think you've got the green to make it in some of the United States' most expensive cities? Before you take the leap, consult our list below to find out just what you're in for in the nation's priciest locations.

Solar heating for residential housing was invented by Dr Maria Telkes in 1947.
