When Will I Receive the COVID-19 Vaccine?

Marin County Public Health and local health providers addressed questions about the status of COVID-19 vaccine distribution in the county in a news release on Friday, January 15. Below are some of the key take-aways:

- If you live or work in Marin County, the best place for information about the vaccination schedule is the vaccine distribution page on the county's and the California Department of Public Health.

- Marin County is in the process of wrapping up Phase 1A, which is the vaccination of approximately 30,000 health care workers in the county.
- Phase 1B will formally open later this month and includes essential workers and adults 65 and over. A variety of distribution points are planned, and vaccination options will be based on a person's health care provider or occupation. Those who are least vulnerable are being asked to wait until later in the phase before being vaccinated.

Australia: Spectacular 'tree of life' found in lake

Amateur photographer Derry Moroney stumbled across massive patterns in Lake Cakora, on Australia's New South Wales north coast, while taking aerial photographs with his drone.

The stunning pictures are now attracting attention online for their "tree of life" resemblance.

Supercomputer simulation re-enacts the birth of the Moon

The formation of the Moon billions of years ago is cloaked in mystery. Most astronomers believe the young Earth, still cooling off from its formation, was struck by a mars-sized body called Theia, roughly 4.5 billion years ago.

3D Model of Mind-Boggling ‘Schröder Staircase’ Wins 2020 Best Illusion of the Year Contest

Optical illusions give fascinating insight into how our brains work. Specific combinations of color, light, and patterns can trick our brains into visually perceiving something that isn't there. Creating illusions is a popular art form, and there's even an annual Best Illusion of The Year Contest. The competition receives thousands of mind-boggling entries from around the world each year, and the winners for 2020 were recently announced.
